

Black Diamond V.2 - How many carats?

NORWAY: DVD & Hjemmekino: no 7 2004

"The previous Black Diamond model was a very successful loudspeaker. But it was time for a new model. The result is impressive, and it is yet another evidence that good sound also can have a joyfully low price label."

"The sound of Black Diamond V.2 has become even more organic and coherent than the previous model. The bass has been improved. The speaker has gained more substance from the bottom and up to the top treble. Besides that, the speaker seems very balanced and plays with a natural and realistic sound picture."

"Black Diamond has become a speaker that plays good, and it will not make any mistakes that you care about in the long run. It is very solid and it plays music in a good way."

"Even if it is possible to experience film without a subwoofer, with this speaker we still think that you should use a sub. Audio Pros subwoofers are incredibly good for their price, and it will still give you a very reasonable total price. The speaker has no special preferences when it comes to film sound. They play everything in the same direct and natural manner"
